Greater Atlanta Telangana Society (GATeS) Service in Telangana Govt Schools

GATeS YouTube: <https://youtu.be/-N4hslmci0c>

Greater Atlanta Telangana Society (GATeS) Backhome Service, in association with Chess Network, successfully organized a Chess Education Program aimed at establishing structured chess education across all government schools in Metpally Mandal, Telangana. This meaningful initiative is designed to benefit over 4,000 students by introducing chess as a tool for cognitive development, strategic thinking, and overall academic growth.

As part of the program, chess boards were distributed to all government schools in Metpally Mandal, ensuring equal access and long-term sustainability of chess education at the grassroots level. This initiative marks a significant step toward nurturing young minds and promoting intellectual sports in rural and semi-urban schools.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to the GATeS Atlanta team for their vision, commitment, and continuous support toward educational development back home. Special thanks to Sri Sudhir Kodati garu and the Chess Network, along with the Chess Network Backhome Team, for their tireless efforts in planning, coordination, and execution of this program.

Our sincere appreciation goes to ZPHS Vellulla Headmaster and all staff members, as well as all Headmasters and the entire team of Metpally Mandal government schools, for their cooperation and encouragement. We also thank the parents and students whose enthusiasm and participation made the program a grand success.

GATeS Releases Career Guidance Book "What Next?" for backhome Telangana High School Students

Greater Atlanta Telangana Society (GATeS) has taken another meaningful step toward empowering youth education by releasing a career guidance book titled "What Next?", specially designed for Telangana Government High School students.

This initiative aims to guide students at a crucial stage of their academic journey by providing clarity on career paths, higher education options, skill development, and future opportunities after school education. The book is intended to inspire confidence and informed decision-making among students from government schools, especially those from underprivileged backgrounds.

The publication of "What Next?" has been made possible through the generous sponsorship of Sri Raghuv eer Reddy Gadipalli, whose continued support reflects a deep commitment to youth development and educational service.

The execution and distribution of the book in Telangana is currently in progress, being efficiently led by Dr. Dharmender Nadimetla and his dedicated team. Their on-ground efforts ensure that the book reaches the intended students across government high schools in Telangana, turning this vision into impactful action.
